

GMIA Airfield Update Newsletter

May 2013

Greetings!

Thank you for your interest in the latest edition of the General Mitchell International Airport (GMIA) Airfield Update. With warmer weather upon us, there are a couple of construction projects that will be affecting airport operations.

The main north-south runway (1L/19R) was closed for maintenance on a utility/drainage tunnel that is located under the runway on May 13th. The tunnel is also close to runway 13/31, so work will necessitate daily closures of this runway as well. As a result, commercial traffic will be exclusively using the east-west runway (7R-25L). The reopening of Runway 1L/19R is expected on May 24th upon completion of the project.

Once the tunnel refurbishment is complete, work will shift to runway 7R/25L, thus requiring its closure and the use of runway 1L/19R by most aircraft. The anticipated start date is May 28th, with concrete panel replacement and shoulder repair being the focus of the work. Also, cranes will be in place adjacent to the runway putting in pilings for a new bridge over Howell Ave. The bridge will be part of a new airport perimeter road that will increase safety by allowing airport vehicles to traverse the airport without having to actually cross a runway. While the use of cranes on the bridge construction is designed to run concurrently with the other work on 7R/25L, it is possible daily closures of the runway will occur after the completion of actual runway work, which is scheduled for completion on June 28th.

Finally, there will be an additional two day closure of Rwy 1L/19R again in August for some navigational equipment maintenance. Once the dates are known, they will be passed along. Future Airfield Update Newsletters will have this and other airfield operational information as it becomes known.
