AMERICAN AIRLINES ANNOUNCES MKE TO WASHINGTON, D.C. NONSTOP
Twice-daily nonstop service begins October 5 with business-friendly schedule

MILWAUKEE (June 19, 2023) – American Airlines will launch new nonstop service from Milwaukee Mitchell International Airport (MKE) to Reagan National Airport this fall. Beginning October 5, 2023, American will fly nonstop between MKE and the nation’s capital twice daily.

“This new service to Washington, D.C. is being added just in time, giving travelers more reasons to choose MKE in connection with the Republican National Convention, which will be hosted in Milwaukee next year,” Milwaukee County Executive David Crowley said. “We are expecting to see a considerable uptick in travelers between Milwaukee and Washington not only during the convention itself, but also in the months leading up to the convention.”

“These new flights to DCA will offer a schedule that favors Milwaukee-based business travelers, allowing them to fly to DC, conduct a full day of work, and then fly back to MKE on the same day, avoiding the cost of a hotel stay,” Airport Director Brian Dranzik said. “American’s decision to offer two daily flights will be a big hit with travelers, and DCA also provides another easy connection point to access other east coast markets.”

The new service will also be convenient for families and school trips visiting museums and monuments in the nation’s capital, along with the annual spring cherry blossom season.

“American is excited to offer more service to Reagan National Airport (DCA) with the addition of Milwaukee,” said Brian Znotins, American’s Senior Vice President of Network Planning. “This new market joins our robust DCA network of more than 85 destinations. We’re proud to serve this new in-perimeter market without adding more congestion to the most heavily-utilized runway in the nation.”
